

Community Rules.

Welcome to the Hot-Pet community. If you are honest, kind, and respectful of others, you are always welcome here. If you don't choose to be like this, you won't be able to stay here for long. Our goal is to ensure that users can express themselves freely, as long as it does not cause discomfort to other people. At Hot-Pet, everyone is subject to equal standards. We ask you to be understanding, to think before you do anything, to adhere to community principles in online and offline actions. Your offline behavior may cause your Hot-Pet account to be cancelled.

Below is a list of our community principles. If you violate any of these principles, you may be banned from Hot-Pet. We're serious, you don't want us to threaten you by grrrrr — because once we do, we won't take it back. We recommend that you report any behavior that violates our principles and read our principles of Sniff Safely.

Inappropriate Content

We'll insist on reminding you every time. You speak only for your pet! Please be polite and behave appropriately for public consumption. Nudity should not be sexual content, and the practice should not contain personal desires. Please use the app clean.

Harassment

Do not engage in any targeted abuse or harassment against other users or encourage others to be found. This includes sharing your personal visual content with a suitable pet (hence the parent you are talking to). Harassment, threats, bullying or similar complaints are taken very seriously by us.

Violence and physical harm

We do not allow images of violence, brutality or blood on Hot-Pet, or any violent, threatening behavior or content, including threatening and inciting terror. Physical assault, oppression and any violent behavior are strictly prohibited. Content that advocates or glorifies suicide or self-harm is also not allowed. In these cases, we can take several steps to assist the user, including contacting crisis sources.
